ADDITIONAL NOTES:

The event will consist of three races, each comprising heats of increasing length, and increasing points tally.

This helps keep alive opportunity to improve in field placing throughout the weekend, and reduces any home track advantage, as visitors become progressively more familiar with the circuit.

Morning and afternoon tea/coffee and snacks throughout the weekend, and lunch on Saturday are covered in the entry fee.

There will be a Saturday night dinner organised which is at entrant's cost. Cold drinks available at a small cost.

Cars will be scrutineered upon completion of practice, or earlier if entrant it ready. This requires "body off". After scrutineering, entrant may refit body and run some test laps to check it before handing in to Parc Ferme. cars will remain in Parc Ferme at the track overnight and be returned to entrants Saturday morning for qualifying. Cars may be worked on at the venue between heats/races. We do not anticipate any drivers attempting to make modifications outside the spirit of the rules, and just aren't interested in nit-picking. This weekend is about meeting drivers from around the country and having fun.

Should any car fail scrutineering; Entrant will have opportunity to bring it within the rules overnight or during the qualifying round. If he is unable to bring it within the rules, the Chief Scrutineer and Race Organiser may impose a points penalty as they deem fit in fairness to other entrants, to enable that car to still compete.

- Qualifying is by way of best solo lap time by each driver in a one minute period.
- Race one drivers will drive in reverse order according to qualifying times.
- Races two and three running order will be determined by points from prior races.

We will race throughout Saturday and complete as many heats as possible; then conclude on Sunday.

Racing will not extend past midday Sunday; to enable entrants to safely book afternoon flights or drive home.
